TUBERCULOSIS NEWS.

By A. E. Keppford, lecturer.

Many communities are asking the question if tuberculosis is a preventable disease, why not prevent it? Some cities and towns are planning for definite work this fall and winter and it is to be hoped that before the coming spring, much will have been accomplished.

It is well known that any adequate attempt at suppression, however, must involve building of retreats or sanatoria for the care and treatment of the tuberculosis patient. The consumptive must be cared for. This method is humane and civil, and while it does not compel the patient to go to the retreat or sanatorium, it provides the place for him, and experience has demonstrated that the patient is only too willing to accept the opportunity to receive treatment and recovery.

The great difficulty which confronts any community in its efforts to provide for the tuberculosis class, however, is lack of funds, and how to secure sufficient money to finance such an undertaking. Various methods have been proposed and some of them are worthy, indeed, but the one which seems to be the most available is that of the National Red Cross Christmas Seals, which have proven their efficacy as a money-raising device in many of the cities of the country and also the towns. The National Red Cross Society has generously arranged this year to give to all communities handling the Christmas seals, 87 1/2 per cent. of the receipts, the Society to receive 12 1/2 per cent., and to take back all unused seals.

What might be suggested is this, that communities undertaking this work shall select a committee of most influential citizens who will carry out the plan presented by the Red Cross Society, properly organizing the city or town and placing on sale in public places the seals. These seals are pasted upon Christmas parcels of all kinds, and thousands of dollars may be realized from them. Any committee desiring further information with reference to the Red Cross Christmas Seals, as well as any society or club, can receive the same by addressing the department on Tuberculosis, Board of Control, Des Moines, Iowa.

It may be added that this is an ideal method of securing funds for a charitable purpose whatsoever, but let me urge that the movement against tuberculosis have the first consideration.

PEOPLE WANT SMALL BILLS.

Greenbacks of denominations of $20 and more are being fed daily into the mangle of the Treasury at Washington under orders to replace them with dollar bills of the same variety.

The change is being made at about the rate of $1,000,000 a day, and the small bills are being sent to the treasuries to meet the demand of the banks all over the country for bills of small denominations.

So great has the demand grown for small bills that some treasury officials are predicting that within a short time it may be necessary to convert all silver certificates into one dollar bills. They believe that eventually all the large bills in circulation will be gold certificates.
